Chef Ben Lee

Executive Chef

A VOCE MADISON

New York

Embarking on his culinary career in Philadelphia in 2003, Lee worked in such highly-revered restaurants as Masaharu Morimoto's eponymous restaurant, Morimoto, and Jean-Marie LaCroix's LaCroix at the Rittenhouse, gaining knowledge in a variety of cuisines.

In 2007, Lee was introduced to Chef Jeffery Michaud, Executive Chef and Partner of Philadelphia-based Vetri Family Restaurant Group, who encouraged him to Stage in Italy and helped secure a position at Ristorante Loro in Bergamo, Italy. Here, coupled with his travels throughout the country, Lee discovered a passion for Italian cooking which has remained with him ever since
